

Eight Directors C. of C. Elected

As a result of the recent chamber of commerce election, the following well-known business and professional men of Torrance were elected as directors: H. H. Dolley, Benjamin Harwood, Carl L. Hyde, W. T. Klusman, Dr. J. S. Lancaster, George W. Neill, J. C. McVey, George Peckham.

last Thursday evening, the sixteen nominees received the following number of votes:
R. J. Deininger, 57; H. H. Dolley, 67; J. H. Fess, 36; Donald Finley, 42; Benjamin Harwood, 70; J. B. Hines, 57; Carl L. Hyde, 68; W. T. Klusman, 66; Dr. J. S. Lancaster, 93; George W. Neill, 61; J. C. McVey, 58; C. A. Paxman, 46; George Peckham, 63; Hurum Reeve, 43; G. A. R. Steiner, 46; W. C. Von Hagen, 36.

Nothing else is as sure as death and taxes, except that war means more death and more taxes.

WALLS OF NEW P. O. BUILDING COLLAPSE

Without Warning Side And Front Walls Crumble

Three persons were caught in the crash when the one-story brick post office building under construction at Lomita collapsed at 10:00 o'clock last Saturday. When the building caved in the massive steel girders and brick fell outward and caught the automobile of Inspector R. C. Evans, who, not three minutes before, had said everything looked O. K.

Several persons jumped to safety. Rex Wrenn was on the rear wall and leaped to the roof of a near-by garage. Several others were not so fortunate and three of the carpenters were pinned under the wreckage. They were extricated with difficulty and an ambulance called from San Pedro, where they were rushed for medical treatment. The most severely injured were:

William R. Scott, 34, carpenter, of 243 North Mesa street, San Pedro; several broken ribs and injury to shoulder.

N. P. Nelson, 48, carpenter, of 3726 Pacific avenue, San Pedro; serious injury to back and severe bruises.

Frank McLosh, 61, carpenter, of 237 Maine avenue, Long Beach; severe scalp wounds, abrasions and bruises.

Roy Baker of Miller street, Lomita, was pinned under the timbers, but escaped serious injury.

Several other persons narrowly escaped death when the 100-foot wall of brick structure, and the heavy steel beams for the roof collapsed with a roar that could be heard for blocks. C. M. Smith, postmaster, was near the front when the crash came, but managed to jump to safety. Caretaker Morris, of the three gasoline pumps, did not have time to run out, but with quick wit saw an opening and ran in toward the falling timbers and brick and waited there until the mass had fallen to the ground. As he looked up he saw an opening in the falling walls, and stood there where he thought he would be in the cellar. He escaped without a scratch.

The building was contracted for $15,000, the damage being over one-third that amount. The contractors are Aitkenhead & Bischke, the San Pedro-Lomita contractors. H. B. Linderman was in charge of the brick construction.

JUGGLING WITH Gs

The greater part of a generation ago a granddaughter of our grandmother was all agog over the glittering gold badge worn by a graduate of the Granville Girls' College. There were two graceful "Gs" engraved on the glistening gold. We gazed, we giggled, then gloomily glowered when no inside information was granted to gratify our greed for gnosis; and information never given until after the glad-some club had given up the ghost.

Our good forgetting makes it impossible to remember what the letters stood for to the galaxy of gay girls, but we are going to suggest that all loyal lovers of Los Angeles county get together in a gigantic gathering whose slogan shall be "G. G.—Greater Growth. If we would gain a genuine growth, physical, mental, moral and spiritual, we must not be giddy, greedy, gruff; or glum; must not gush or gossip with the garrulous or gullible. We must be generous because we are grateful for our glorious heritage, and must have gleams of glee to gloss over disagreeable happenings. There must be no "gang" who glory in gambling and graft.

Let's run the gamut of G's to find the ones that generate graciousness and agreeableness, then get into the game, having grace gumption and grit to govern with godliness and goodness.

Our guide must be the Golden Rule.

When every gentleman and gentlewoman, every gay girl and gallant boy, Jew or Gentle, iningham or in gorgeous garb, can measure up to that standard, we shall gain the goal and have indeed a greater Los Angeles County.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores
Its Natural Color and Lustre—At Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.
